This publication was produced by the Colorado Bar Association's Community and Civic Affairs Committee of the Elder Law Section, along with the Trust and Estate Section. It is intended to give older adults useful information on many subjects related to their legal concerns.

The information is based on current laws and practices of Colorado and the policies and programs of the federal government. The information provided in The Senior Law Handbook 2006 is not intended to replace the advice and services of an attorney.

Our mission is to provide information that will let people better understand the laws that affect their daily lives. Since laws and programs will change, please use this handbook only as an initial information source. Each person's circumstances are unique. The agencies and other resources listed at the end of each chapter can provide up-to-date help with particular benefit levels and programs.

Thanks to the following individuals who were involved in creating the Senior Law Handbook in the past and for this current year: Sally Anderson, Trish Barron, Michael Bennidt, Chuck Connell, Valerie Corzine, Lisa Curtis, Lara Delka, Joseph Dawson, Todd Judd Erickson, Nancy Fenamore, Janice Friddle, Carl Glatstein, Sandy Gleason, Jennifer Gormley, Joel Hayes, Susan Hellman, Peter Komlos-Hrobsky, Jennifer Knight, Jan Meyers, Linda Phillips, Manuel Ramos, Nora Roth, Sharon Roth, Jayla Sanchez-Warren, Joni Seivert, Catherine Silburn, Frank Slaninger, Linda Smoke, Irma Stinnett, Melissa Sugar and Theresa Wilkins.

The subcommittee also wishes to acknowledge the assistance of Stacy Chesney and Mindy Marks in the Communications Department, and Catherine McHughes in the Internet Department of the Colorado Bar Association.
